RAY HARADIN
Toys of Yesteryear

THE "NEW YORK" 9.0 $45,000

Made by Marklin, circa 1900.

An extremely rare and desirable 1 1/2 series clockwork gunboat with twin funnels. Beautifully fitted and measuring 20" in length. Exceptional condition and exquisite.

Provenance: the Raymond E Holland Collection, the Malcolm Forbes Collection.

"GIANT" CLOCKWORK LOCOMOTIVE 8.5 $17,500

The largest of all Early American tin locomotives adorned with a beautiful eagle. Manufactured by Ives circa 1893, this 18 1/2" locomotive dwarfs all others. Made in very limited numbers. It is powered by an extremely powerful clockwork mechanism. They are extremely rare -- fewer than 5 are known to exist. It is listed in the Ives 1893 catalog and is also known as the "Grand Duke".

❧ BRING OUT THE BANDS ❧

We all like to play. Offered within are some of the finest toys ever produced, toys that were meant to stimulate our creative nature. Whether we were in trenches with our toy soldiers or on the open seas in our battleship, early toys evoked emotion. They represent a time when play was a luxury. They were created and produced with the best materials- lead, iron and brass. Every aspect of their production was focused on making a quality toy, with which children could learn. Not a cheap toy that is quickly discarded as toys are made today.

Within these pages you will find a extraordinary sampling of this golden age of toy making. The items listed are available for immediate purchase at the time of printing. It is now first come -- first serve. Good collecting!
